

A SCHEMING WE WILL GO

We live in most surprising times the world has never seen before,
There's nowt but speculation now & scheming's all the rage.
It's said that atmospheric trains more than likely soon will be performing a passage twice a week right slap up to the moon:

TOORALLOORALLOORALOO (2X)

There's nowt but fine new fangled things & scheming now will do.

We'll see them whisking round the skies & visiting the shiny stars
Old Venus they'll be touching at & Jupiter & Mars.
By some invention soon I think we'll all be clothed with lots to drink & move by clockwork during day & go by steam to bed:

CHORUS

Sung to the tune of "Paddy on the Railway"